

Bryn

Bryn is around 2 years old. Her large eyes reveal a vulnerability that speaks to her need for a light touch, a calm voice, and a loving home where she feels protected and safe. She is a petite cat who is also a tripod kitty, as she is missing a hind foot. She gets around as well as any other cat, but she's at times a bit slower.

Bryn is shy and reserved, and she would love to find someone who will respect her need for time to learn that you are a friend. Although she's still unsure of herself at the shelter, this sensitive cat's personality will blossom when she's with you and knows it's alright to show her sweetness and affection. She can live with another cat who has a similar personality, but dogs would be too overwhelming for this tripod kitty. She can join an adult-only home with an experienced, patient adopter. Could you give Bryn a soft space to thrive and be loved?
